Invitation

Editor The Star: This is an open letter to the curious members of the opposition party who park outside of the places where Republican Meetings are held to see who attends these meetings. We would have been more than glad to have this man and his wife come in and have a cup of coffee with us last Tuesday at the Town and Country. It is not necessary for them to stay in their car and be uncomfortable. Our meetings are all open to the public, and we welcome anyone who is sincerely interested in the two party system of government.

Very Truly Yours,
MRS. F. W. GRACHEK

Man Who Sank Allied Ships Dies

MALMOE, Sweden (AP) — Count Felix Von Luckner, who sank 14 Allied ships in World War I without taking a life, is dead at 84.

Von Luckner's death Wednesday of an undisclosed illness ended a life of daring that earned him fame as the "Sea Devil."

During the World War I he commanded an innocent-looking windjammer which carried concealed guns and a powerful motor. Masquerading as a Norwegian freighter, Von Luckner's Seeadler (Sea Eagle) scuttled $25 million worth of Allied ships, but he took their crews — and even their pets — off first and looked after them until he could put them ashore.

"I broke the British blockade with a clear conscience," he said. "No mother, wife, child or father lost a tear."

His ship roamed the Atlantic and Pacific with a 64-man crew, 27 of whom spoke Norwegian. Since Norwegian captains customarily took their wives with them on voyages, he disguised a 16-year-old boy as a girl to pose as his wife.

After sailing 35,000 miles, the Seeadler was wrecked on a South Sea coral reef in August

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset

1917. Von Luckner and five of his crew sailed a lifeboat loaded with ammunition for 48 days to the Fiji Islands, where they hoped to seize another ship. Instead a British police officer and several native policemen captured them.

The British sent him to New Zealand, but he escaped in a motorboat and during six weeks of freedom seized a small sailing vessel. A British cruiser recaptured him and he spent the rest of the war in New Zealand.

Between the world wars he conducted cruises and lectured in several countries, including the United States. Lowell Thomas wrote two books about him: "Count Luckner, The Sea Devil" and "The Sea Devil's Finest Hour."

The World War I hero was old (60) to be of use to sail for Germany during World War II. After the war he said he fell into disfavor with the Nazis when he refused requests to renounce membership in the Free Masons and honorary citizenships that had been conferred on him by Bermuda, San Francisco, Miami and North Dakota.

Blonde Hair Was His Big Trouble

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Alan Miller has shoulder-length blond hair and that's where his troubles begin.

Because Miller, a 17-year-old honor student, refuses to cut the hair, he has been suspended from classes at the Unionville-Chadds Ford High School in suburban Philadelphia.

The school board is taking up the matter, but until it does, Miller isn't allowed to attend the school.

"I hope they meet soon," said his mother, Mrs. Clarence Miller.

Miller contends his hair is vital to his appearance as a member of a rock 'n' roll band. He is a guitar player.

A potluck supper and cards entertainment will be held at the Hope Country Club at 7 p. m. Saturday, April 16. Host couples will be Mr. and Mrs. Brack, Schenck, Jim Pruden, S. L. Murphy, and Bob Kellum.

By: "Bill"

Surveys have been made on the type entertainment women enjoy most when they are attending conventions and the fashion show, by far, takes the lead.

If we were choosing things for a show right now... we would start with a suit. Probably a knit, one of any number of brand names... a Butte, Carley, Koret of California, Jeanne Durrell, Jon McCouley... these are a few. We would choose a color that would be easy to accessorize, like black or navy or beige. The price would range from $40.00 up.

We would next select a basic dress, it would be one that would compliment our accessories, could be worn from early until late and in-between. We would like a knit sheath or a linen or a knit jersey or... all three! But if we could only have two, we would choose a light and a dark color. The sleeves would be short or 3/4 and the neckline plain so that we could wear jewelry. The price of this basic dress would be $19.95 or up... Next we would select some sportswear, a skirt and several blouses, some slacks, plus a few pairs of shorts... And now we are running out of space before we get to the formal dresses, the lingerie, the millinery and those new shades of hosiery... we invite you to see them all at...

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

This Cat Was Hungry!
Dear Helen: How do you train a cat not to eat holes in mohair or angora sweaters? — Holey Jo
Dear H. Jo: ... The same way you train a cat not to chew holes in your pet rabbit: Keep them separated! — H.

Dear Helen: I met a guy who is really something else. The trouble is he made a pass, but I managed to stop him. I thought we had it all settled about passes because I explained how I felt about them, but the next date it was the same: he figured a good night kiss was supposed to START the evening. Next date, another wrestling match. But he keeps asking me to go out with him and he's just wonderful other wise. He won't talk about this and I feel silly making a big argument when he just smiles and says nothing. How can I convince him? — Gone On Him

Dear one On Him: Be gone period! Or you'll be a gone goose. Here's a yardstick: First pass, expect. Most boys try; nice guys only try once. Second pass: lose respect. Third pass: reject. With a last "Good-bye!" — H.

Dear Helen: I get embarrassed and also shook when I slide into or out of a car and get static shocks from any metal I touch. I know it's the nylon seat covers and all the static-producing clothes we wear these days but what can I DO? Once I struck sparks when I kissed my boy friend goodnight. — Shocking.

Dear Shocking: Touch glass before you touch metal — that dispels the static electricity. (It also gets dirty looks from the car owner who doesn't like fingerprints on his windows.) When you get out of a car, close it with your elbow or some clothed part of your body — or by pulling your hand on the glass; — fingerprints be hanged — they are better than sparks. Knock the back of your hand against the metal before you touch it. This is my husband's invention and works wonders to "bleed" off the static build-up. As for kissing — well, be glad you give your boyfriend a real charge. — H.

Dear Helen: I'm a young American, age 13, and I'd like to tell these draft-dodgers something. Here goes: It seems your way of thinking is "Take the positive, not the negative." You have got to be free, not boxed in. You think that is "positive"! — Where you have everything that's "good" — a portable radio, a guitar, a smooth ear and a cute chick. You don't want anything to do with war because, man, you didn't start it. You didn't ask for no war, if those guys want to get killed, it's their berries.

Well, my dear young gentlemen, you most surely have a very wide yellow streak down your back. You are immature, craven boys who will never grow up until you start accepting responsibilities and face the truth. Don't give me the argument I am only a kid, what do I know? Well, I know that life isn't all positive. There are plenty of negatives — things you have to work hard to make positive. The radio needs batteries, the guitar strings, the car gas and oil, the chick food. You can't keep borrowing from your old man forever, but you won't get a job because that's a "negative" thing — remember? It boxes you in.

Maybe you didn't start the war, but, man, you were remotely responsible. Listen guy, you are an American and you started the fight when the Colonists realized that they didn't just want rights as Englishmen but complete independence. And don't start laughing because you heard that before, either. You want to know why those guys in Washington, Premier Ky, and all those other "do-gooders" are laying it on the line? Because we'd be in a worse mess without them.

My only hope is that when you get drafted you'll turn into men. A lot of silly little boys have you know. — Jane

Guidepost Ties Wages to Prices

By JOHN T. CUNIFF
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)-The war in Viet Nam is not the only thing that has escalated dramatically in the past few years. The administration's voluntary guideposts have also.

Voluntary restraints are asked on a variety of economic endeavors. But the best known and most specifically stated restraints are the wage-price guideposts, whose aim is avoidance of inflation.

The guideposts tie wages and prices to the average gain in output per man hour—estimated at 3.2 per cent in recent years. Wage increases above that figure are considered inflationary. And industries with good profits and a productivity gain in excess of that figure aren't expected to raise prices.

When the President's Council of Economic Advisers introduced guideposts it described them as a "guide rather than a rule," a "contribution" to public discussion.

By 1964, however, they were referred to as a "standard." Aluminum allegedly crossed the standard in October 1965 by raising the price of primary aluminum 1/2 cent a pound to 25 cents, bringing on another stage in the escalation: enforcement by government stockpile.

Stockpiles were designed to assure an adequate supply of materials in case of war. There are some 93 materials stockpiled, a reserve valued at more than $8 billion. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara announced Nov. 7 that the administration would sell 200,000 tons of aluminum from its stockpile in the next year, a move which could undercut the increase.

Leon Hickman, an executive of Aluminum Co. of America, replied that Alcoa had "no intention" of rescinding.

The next day, Nov. 8, the administration strengthened its hand: 100,000 tons of aluminum would be sold immediately and another 200,000 tons in 1966.

John Harper, Alcoa president, went to Washington, spoke with McNamara and gave in on the evening of Nov. 9. McNamara made the announcement; Alcoa's came five minutes later. The stockpile threat was retracted. The guideposts had escalated.

Copper then met a similar confrontation. But copper was in short supply, the industry welcomed the stockpile and gave up its increase.

The power of the guideposts still was not clear, however. On New Year's Day Bethlehem Steel Co., apparently without consulting the administration, raised the price of structural steel $5 a ton.

Company officials were invited to Washington, the increase was rolled back and then compromised at a much smaller figure. The industry acted differently the next time it sought an increase.

U.S. Steel did not await a summons to Washington. An executive rode down and discussed a proposed increase in advance of its announcement, a recognition once more of the increasing power of the guideposts.

The U.S. Steel executive told the administration the company wished to raise prices on some products $2.92 a ton and decrease them on others. The arrangement seemed within the guideposts and was cleared. Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, applauded the move.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By JACOB Y & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Possession of the spade suit in bridge is like control of the backboard in basketball. You may lose but you will have to have a lot of the worst of it to do so.

Expert South got into the bidding with one spade because he wasn't vulnerable and he did have spades. He bid four spades as a sacrifice and was not at all surprised when he was doubled by East.

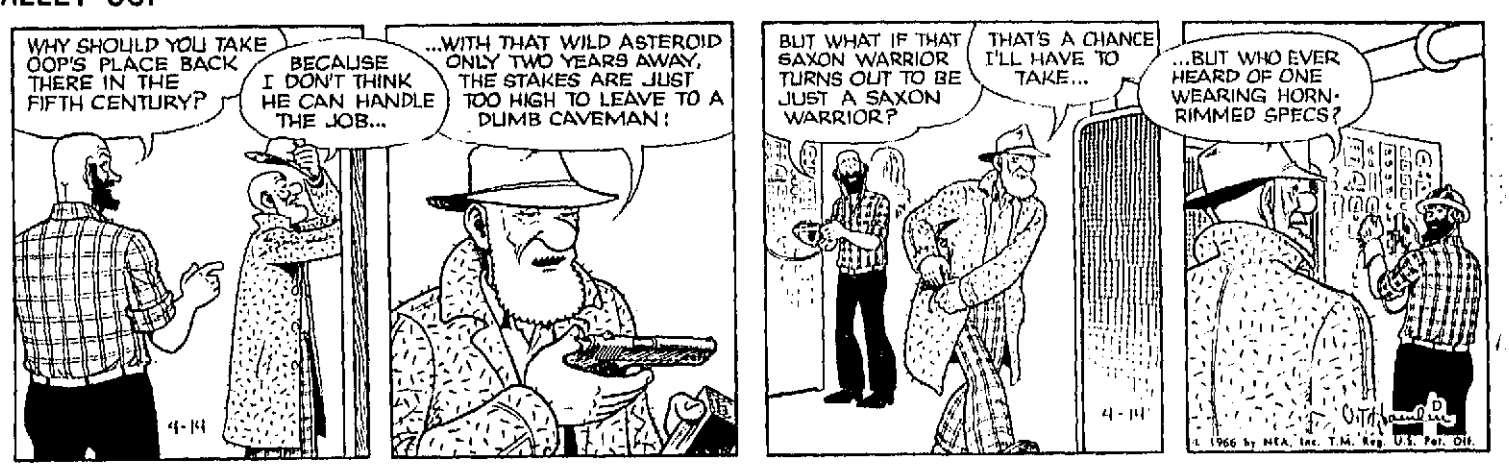

West opened the ace of hearts and continued with the queen. South ruffed, led the seven of diamonds and let it ride.

When the seven held the trick South's face lighted up. He drew trumps with three leads and led a second diamond. South was about to play dummy's queen when he decided to pause and reflect. It was one of those all-expert rubber bridge games where anything can happen and usually does.

South went over the bid.

Lakers Take Hawks to Go Into Playoffs

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — If there were any disappointed St. Louis Hawks after Wednesday night's rousing 131-127 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers, it probably was Bill Bridges. He kept moaning about the rebound shortage. "I can't believe I got only," he said.

But the way the Western Division playoffs of the National Basketball Association heated up the reason was clear. Almost everything that went up, went in.

To prolong the best-of-seven series to a seventh game, the Hawks had to overcome the Lakers' 50.5 per cent shooting from the field with 52.5 per cent of their own. Their shooting forced the teams' return to Los Angeles for the deciding game Friday night. The winner will meet the Boston Celtics for the NBA title.

"There weren't many baskets given away," said Hawks' Coach Richie Guerin, who hit eight of 16 himself, "although you wouldn't think so from the score."

Laker Coach Fred Schaus agreed. "I was disgusted after we lost Sunday," he said, "but I thought we played well in this game. We made the Hawks take the shots we wanted them to take, but they hit them. They're not usually an outcourt shooting team."

"I told my boys at the quarter and again at the half that the Lakers are shooting the heck out of the basket, but couldn't keep that up," Guerin said. His club managed a 36-36 first quarter tie and a 69-68 halftime lead, although the Lakers shot better than 60 per cent and the Hawks "only" 56 per cent.

The torrid pace continued in the third period with the Hawks still ahead by one, but Guerin proved a prophet in the final period. The Lakers cooled off enough for the Hawks to go on a 17-2 spree behind Zelmo Beaty and Joe Caldwell that gave them a 126-114 lead. The Lakers couldn't catch up in spite of Jerry West's efforts.

Bridges himself hit 13 of 22 shots for 29 points, only outdone by West's 14 of 25 for 38 markers.

Griffith, Tiger Are Confident

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — With the battle of champions only 11 days away, both middleweight king Dick Tiger and welterweight ruler Emile Griffith are getting more confident. At least, they're talking that way.

"I think I can knock him out," said Tiger, who risks his middleweight crown against Griffith at Madison Square Garden April 25.

"I'm confident I can beat Tiger," said Griffith Wednesday. "He's too slow."

Koufax Blasted as Houston Beat Dodgers

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Sandy Koufax must have had stage fright.

What else could account for his fumbling performance in his first start of the 1966 baseball season?

Koufax, who ended his 32-day holdout and his movie career at the same time two weeks ago, was battered from the mound in the fourth inning Wednesday night in Houston's 7-6 victory over Los Angeles.

The brilliant left-hander glittered in the first inning, but there was nothing award-winning about his performance after that. He gave up five runs on five hits and two walks and was around long enough only to pitch to one batter in the fourth inning.

Although Koufax encountered such game last season — however rare — he never made an error. He did against the Astros, though, and that's what led him off the stage.

After Sonny Jackson beat out an infield single with one out in the third inning, Jim Wynn grounded to the mound. Koufax fumbled the ball for an error, and the Astros had two runners on.

Dave Nicholson struck out for what would have been the third out, but Bob Aspromonte singled for one run and Joe Morgan clouted a homer for three more.

Koufax finally retired the side only to have John Bateman lead off the next inning with a triple and retire Koufax.

The Dodger ace, who last year won his first start plus 25 more, thus departed with a fielding average of .000 a mere 1,000 points below his showing in 1965 when he accepted 46 chances flawlessly.

The Dodgers will settle for a little more flawless pitching.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh whipped Atlanta 6-0, San Francisco defeated Chicago 4-0 and Philadelphia nipped St. Louis 3-2 in 12 innings. Rain washed out New York at Cincinnati for the third straight day.

In the American League, Baltimore crushed Boston 6-1 and Minnesota trimmed Kansas City 5-3. Rain took care of the Cleveland-Washington and Detroit-New York games.

After Morgan's homer gave the Astros a 5-3 lead, John Roseboro tied it with a two-run homer. The Astros finally won it in the ninth when Chuck Harrison singled, was sacrificed to second and raced home as Rusty Staub singled.

Vernon Law and Bob Bolin each pitched four-hitters and didn't walk anyone in the Pirates' and Giants' victories.

Law stopped Atlanta while Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon each hit two-run homers. Stargell added two other hits and drove in another run.

Bolin allowed the Cubs to get more than one man on base only once. The Giants, meanwhile, put the game away with three runs in the third inning, two Tito Fuentes' single that got through left fielder George Altman's legs.

John Herrnstein's pinch-hit, run-scoring single in the 12th inning carried Philadelphia past St. Louis. Rich Allen singled with two out and stole second before Herrnstein singled. Allen also figured in the Phillies' other two runs with a single and a double.

He had two strikes on him in the last of the ninth when he singled for the winning run.

Tabbed by Manager Sam

Mele as his opening-day left fielder when incumbent Bob Allison couldn't get started this spring, Valdespino responded just like Mele figured he would. "He's tough, that littleascal," said Mele after the Twins had pushed across the run in the last of the ninth inning for a successful debut in defense of their A.L. pennant.

"He hits left-handed pitching pretty good, too," Mele said of the 27-year-old outfielder. "I haven't hesitated to pinch hit him against the lefties. He could win the left field job full-time."

Dobbs Silent on Going to Point

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Western Football Coach Bobby Dobbs was back in El Paso today after a two-day visit to West Point. But whether he will fill the vacancy at Army remained a secret.

"If he is in El Paso," Texas Western athletic director George McCarthy said Wednesday night, "we're going to get some kind of answer Thursday I'm sure."

Dobbs, who has four years to go on his contract at the El Paso school, is considered the leading candidate for the Army job which Paul Dietzel gave up to become coach and athletic director at South Carolina.

Stanley Cup Playoffs to Resume

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Stanley Cup playoffs resume in Toronto and Detroit tonight with both home teams decided underdogs now in the National Hockey League's best-of-seven playoff competition.

The Leafs, down 0-3 to Montreal's powerful Canadiens, are in a bad way especially. The Red Wings are a little better off. They trail the Chicago Black Hawks, 11-2 in games.

Despite his team's standing, Toronto Coach Punch Imlach looks at the future optimistically. "Nothing's impossible," he said. "It depends on how much you want something."

Only one team in playoff history — the 1942 Maple Leafs — has overcome a 3-0 deficit. Toronto dropped three in a row to Detroit that year in the Cup final and then won the next four games.

Judge Orders Milwaukee Must Get Team

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The National League faced the threat today of a forced uprooting from its potentially rich new territory in Atlanta unless it bowed to a Wisconsin court order and restore baseball to Milwaukee.

The ruling by Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller Wednesday night struck at the protective coating that has shielded baseball from antitrust laws since 1922 and left the young 1966 season under long legal shadows.

Roller, 64, found the Atlanta Braves and the Atlanta League in violation of Wisconsin antitrust law for pulling the Braves out of Milwaukee while refusing to grant the city a replacement team.

The judge said the Braves must return to Milwaukee, their home from 1953 through 1965, if the league fails to submit by noon May 16 a 1967 expansion plan that would include Milwaukee.

Baseball's reaction to the ruling, which climaxed a 38-day trial, was cautious.

A spokesman for Commissioner William Eckert issued a statement saying baseball intended to file an immediate appeal to the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

The Hungry Golfers Open Azalea Play

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The "hungry golfers" tournament, the 18th annual Azalea Open, began today with a field of 140, composed chiefly of lesser lights on the PGA tour and area players.

Most of the stars are at Las Vegas, Nev., for the Tournament of Champions or are leisurely making their way to Dallas for next week's tournament. In their absence, the less skilled and a sprinkling of top players are competing for a purse that is modest by today's standards.

Officials say the minimum purse of $20,000 may be nearer $30,000 when pay-off time comes after the 72nd hole Sunday.

Randy Glover, the sturdy little Florence, S.C., professional who has been winning money instead of tournaments, staked a claim to the role of favorite with an eight-under-par 64 in Wednesday's pro-amateur preliminary. He missed the competitive record for the 6,700-yard Cape Fear Country Club course by one stroke.

Glover collected $42,000 in official money last year to rank 19th on the PGA roster.

A little voice goes a long way — and carries a lot of impact — when you visit with a friend or loved one miles away. A long distance telephone call is truly the "next best thing to being there." It's economical, too, and in seconds brings someone far away suddenly very close. All you need give your telephone operator is the correct three-digit area code and the distant number you are calling. You don't even have to give her your own number until she asks for it. Talk to someone by long distance after 8 p.m. today — or all day Sunday — when rates are lowest.

The Met Is Going . . And There Are No Tears

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK—(NEA)—When you walk into the glorious, rococo, horseshoe-shaped auditorium that is the Metropolitan Opera House, it seems a crime that the building will be destroyed this spring.

But when you walk around the crowded, dirty, dangerous backstage area that is the Metropolitan Opera House, known only to performers and Met employees, it seems a crime that the building wasn't torn down years ago.

When he told this to Otto Kahn, the wealthy patron of the house, Signor Gatti was assured that in another two years, there would be a spacious new Metropolitan Opera House farther uptown, built on land already purchased. But the move was never approved by the board of directors.

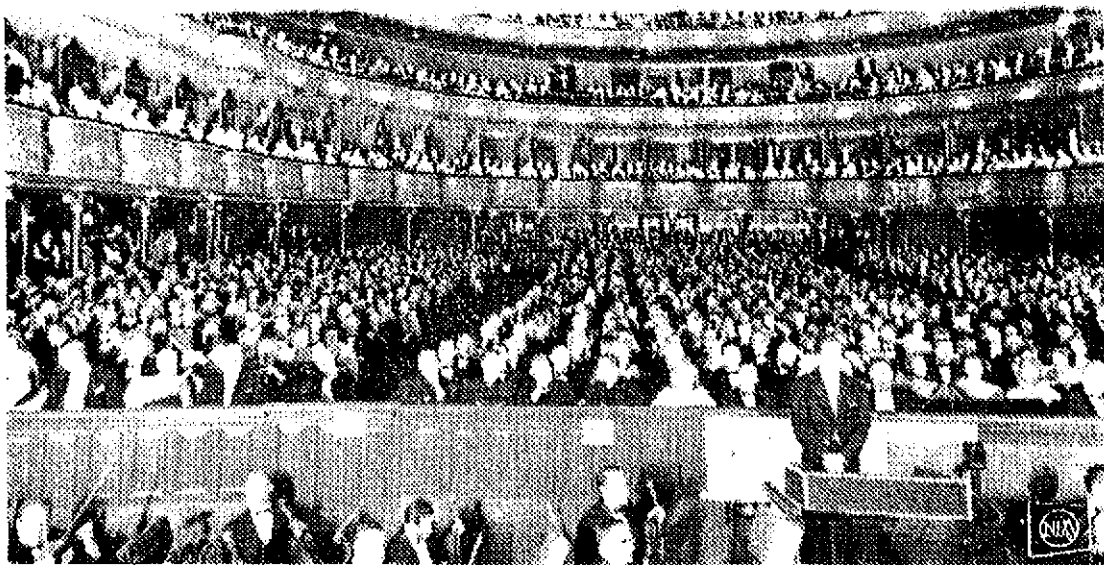

Now, on April 16, the Metropolitan will present a gala program with tickets selling for $200 top, the gold curtain will close, and the last performance of opera in the 83-year-old house will have taken place. (To the Bolshoi Ballet, which then plays a two-week engagement, goes the honor of giving the Met's final performance.)

Rudolf Bing, in his 17th season as Met general manager, agrees that all who have worked there will leave the old house with a feeling of nostalgia.

"But," he points out, "we cannot deny that the working conditions here are extremely difficult and complicated, almost impossible."

Manager Bing with his only souvenir—the plaque from his box.

In its heyday, the Met's Diamond Horseshoe sparkled.

Bing was in his ground floor corner office, located in the heart of New York's garment center. The main sound was not a Verdi aria wafting from the wings, but a steady roar of traffic.

"It is insufferably noisy here," he says. "But I suppose in the new house, instead of noise we will have little boys from the neighborhood throwing stones."

None of the furniture from Bing's office will make the trip to the new Metropolitan Opera House at Lincoln Center. "I'm the only old piece of furniture that goes," he smiled. "Many of our people have already moved up there. I find out by calling them here. When they don't answer, I know they have moved."

Bing says he is not a souvenir hound. "There is one thing I am taking, though," he said, opening his desk drawer and pulling out the plaque saying "General Manager" which had been on his box.

He rose from his desk and began a tour of the dingy backstage area. The floor boards were so old and worn, even on the stage, that you had the feeling that each second would bring a fall.

(Eileen Farrell once got the heel of her shoe caught between the floor boards as she was hurrying to make an entrance.)

Knotholes in the floor offered glimpses into a basement or something. There was a light down there, and the view was dizzying.

Backstage, the Met is a mess.

Bing led the way into an unbelievably crowded area in which you somehow expected to see Quasimodo swoop out of a bell tower.

"This is where we store the scenery for the current production. Some of it. All of it won't fit in the house. The scenery is kept in a warehouse some blocks away. In the new theater, we will have room to store the sets for the entire season's repertoire."

Francis Robinson, Bing's genial assistant, is taking a chair from his office that belonged to Otto Kahn. "I have also requested the door from the dressing room on the women's side that was used by Geraldine Farrar and Kirsten Flagstad, the only two singers in the history of the Met to have their own dressing room for the season."

"I thought I would send the door to Miss Ferrar, who is 84 and living in Connecticut. She will not be at the final performance. I have invited her to two performances over the years and both times I was firmly refused. I have been told to avoid emotion, she wrote me."

Robinson, the house historian, says that he too will be delighted to leave the decrepit backstage area and move to a new theater. "Josiah Cady, the architect who designed the building, almost bragged that he had never been in a theater. La Scala, which was built in 1777, has more room backstage than the Met does."

A group has begun a "Save the Met" drive, but Robinson feels he would rather see the old house torn down than have it fall in seamy days. "It would be terrible to have the place stand. Its fate would be the same as the old Academy of Music which had a series of melodramas, musicals and finally bad old movies before it was torn down. That's exactly what will happen to the Met if the wreckers don't move in on May 10."

Corn Biscuits Top Paul Bunyan Stew

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Paul Bunyan, whether legend or historical fact, had a prodigious appetite. He agreed with Hot Biscuit Sam, his culinary genius, that "Corn meal biscuits are tops."

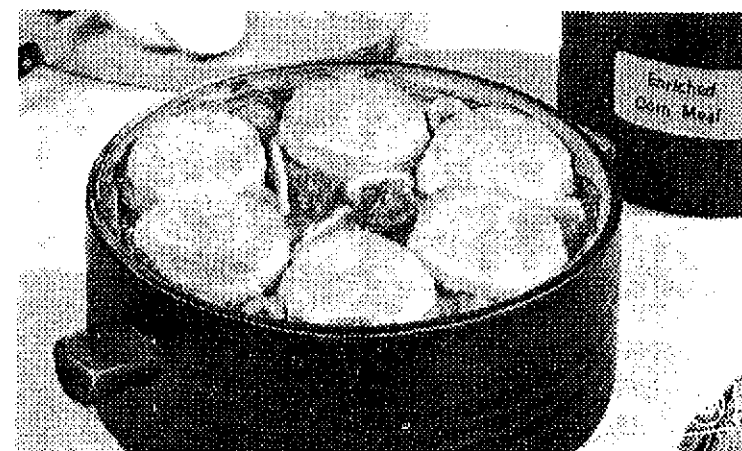

If you have any Paul Bunyan appetites in your family, then serve savory beef stew. But take Hot Biscuit Sam's advice and top it with corn meal biscuits.

PAUL BUNYAN STEW (Serves 6)

- 2 lb. beef stew meat, cubed
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 4 cups water
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 clove garlic
- 2 medium-sized onions, sliced
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 6 carrots, cut in strips
- 2 cups diagonally-cut celery
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup COLD water

BISCUITS

- 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 cups enriched corn meal
- 2 teaspoons salt

PAUL BUNYAN STEW teams with corn biscuits.

- 2 tablespoons baking powder
 - 1/4 cup shortening, soft
 - 1 1/4 cups milk
- Brown beef slowly in oil in large fry pan or Dutch oven; add water. Place bay leaves and garlic clove on toothpick; add to mixture. Add onions, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Add carrots and celery; cover and simmer an additional 30 minutes; remove bay leaves and garlic clove. Combine flour and cold water; slowly stir into stew. If cooked in fry pan, transfer to 3-quart casserole.

For biscuits, sift together flour, corn meal, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk and mix lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to 1/2-inch thickness; cut with floured biscuit cutter. Arrange six biscuits on top of hot stew. Place uncovered in preheated hot oven (425 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes. Bake remaining biscuits on cookie sheet in preheated oven (425 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Serve with stew.

Our Man From Puritan

by Helen Hennessy

Worcester, Mass. Editor
New England Fashion Assoc.

NEW YORK (NEA). The men behind the giant firms in the garment industry share a common bond. They're all rich.

And they got that way promoting inexpensive to moderate priced clothes for women.

But Carl Rosen, president of Puritan Fashions Corp., admits that women themselves, not just the fashions they wear, play an important role in the success of his organization.

It is one man who will never claim that women don't belong in business.

As buyers, designers and customers, he said, they are the vital force of this corporation's day-to-day activity.

Lean, dark-haired Rosen added, "And now I not only listen to women in the market, but I also have them as my bosses since they own such a large percentage of the publicly held shares of American business."

Puritan today is publicly owned and listed on the American Stock Exchange. A family-held business when it was founded by Rosen's father 50 years ago, its volume at the close of a recent fiscal year was reported in a book on the fashion industry to be about $47 million.

But women listen to Carl Rosen too. It isn't always the other way around. A popular lecturer, he has been called on innumerable times to speak before distaff groups about the world of big business as seen from the top.

"And fashion is big business," he said. "Today it's even used by a wide range of corporations to help sell other products."

"Banks hold fashion shows in their windows. Automobiles are advertised with a well-dressed model behind the wheel. Airlines use fashion to promote their jet set image. Appliance firms employ fashion co-ordinators to give their products a feminine touch—just look at those Op-Art refrigerator doors."

Puritan was one of the first firms to push the youthquake and even formed a new division (Paraphernalia) devoted exclusively to these young, kooky styles. Curious about the conservative Mr. Rosen's personal opinion on the youth kick that he is helping to sweep the country, I asked for it.

He agrees that there has been a tiresome amount of attention paid to the statistic that half our population is under 25. And he feels this emphasis obscures the fact that American women have always been youth-minded.

"In this country, youth is not so much a measure of age as an indication of mental outlook. We have always been known as a young, vigorous nation," he said.

"Young people today are different from those I knew as a boy in Boston. They have grown up in a radically different time and think differently. And awareness of their way of thinking is vital to anyone in this business since it is reflected in the way they want to dress."

Listening to the way Carl Rosen thinks, it was easy to understand what separates the men from the boys in the fashion business. His ability to anticipate a trend that will catch on and his know-how in the ways of promoting it are factors that make a man a fashion giant.

He believes that it is important to realize that today's young people will eventually become the "older generation" and their children will then reflect their parents' "new" approach to fashion.

"That is why we are so interested in young designs and have signed a group of talented young people to design things for our youth divisions," he explained. "To test their styles we have created a showplace in New York City where we are able to gain first-hand knowledge of consumer reaction at the retail level."

"Of course, we hope our customers are realistic and that any woman worth her weight in pounds realizes no amount of 'thinking young' will pour her into a thigh-high, sleeveless shift," he added.

But this enterprising man has also provided something fashionable for the girls who shouldn't wear the schoolgirl styles. Puritan has 10 divisions where clothes are turned out under 10 different labels for every figure type from junior petite to half sizes. They can't lose, you see.

When he is not traveling around the world looking

Smart merchandising plays a big role in separating the giants from the boys in fashion. Puritan shows forward thinking in this attention-getting presentation of Avante shifts by its Claire Tiffany division. Each shift comes on its own hanger topped with the face of a soignée blonde, brunette or redhead.

after the firm's many business interests, Carl Rosen makes his home on Job's Island in Dedham, Mass. But even in his leisure hours he can't escape the opinions of women when it comes to fashion. Two of his teen-age children are girls.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef chuck steak.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. Cubed steak comes from several different sections including the beef chuck, sirloin, skirt tip, round or short loin. They can be identified by their square or rectangular appearance as well as by the small cubed effect left by the machine that tenderizes them mechanically. Some cubed steaks are made from a single piece of meat while others are made from several pieces but all give the appearance of a single piece.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. They may be prepared by pan-frying or braising. To pan-fry, place a small amount of lard or drippings in the frying-pan and brown the cubed steak on both sides. The extra fat is needed for proper browning. To braise, brown the meat on both sides in lard or drippings, then add a small amount of liquid or a sauce like a barbecue type, cover tightly and cook slowly until done.

First Process
First chemical process ever discovered by man probably was heating of wood to convert it into carbon or charcoal, burning without flame or smoke, charcoal fuel has twice the heating power of wood.

New Methods Improve Hernia Surgery Results

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I had a right-sided hernia repaired in March, 1965, and a recurrence of the hernia in August. This was repaired, but recurred in January of this year. How can I prevent further recurrences?

A—In about 10 per cent of persons who are past 50, the hernia recurs in spite of careful surgery. This is usually because the tissues brought together in the repair are weak and will not hold the stitches. The only precautions against getting a recurrence are to avoid heavy lifting, coughing and straining at stool.

Surgery is the only satisfactory treatment for a hernia of the groin. Improved results are now being reported with the use of a tantalum or plastic mesh to reinforce the body's own tissues or reinforcement with a strong fascia taken from another part of the body.

Q—My doctor has prescribed Librium for my nerves. Can a person take this drug daily without getting any bad effects?

A—Chlordiazepoxide (Librium) is a minor tranquilizer. Taken in too large a dose, it will cause drowsiness or even fainting.

Skin rash, nausea and headache have also been reported. Persons who take it for a prolonged period should have regular blood cell counts and liver function tests. When the drug is discontinued, this must be done gradually or convulsions are likely to occur.

Q—My sister has been advised to take raw linseed oil once a day to prevent further hardening of the arteries. Is this an effective treatment?

A—The chief use of linseed oil is to help house paint to dry. Although linseed oil contains linolenic acid, soy bean oil is a more palatable source of this nutrient. There is as yet no sound evidence that this fatty acid will prevent hardening of the arteries.

Q—My son, 44, has narcolepsy. Is it serious? Will it affect his mind?

A—The tendency to fall asleep momentarily while sitting or standing is serious only to the extent that it may cause the victim to fall. It would not affect his mind directly but only if, as a result of an attack, he fell and struck his head. A person who has these spells should not drive a car or engage in any work around heavy machinery or electrical equipment.

Easy Blueberry Shortcakes

Often as folks may spend many waking hours telling one another about their diets, desserts are still definitely IN! And no matter how many new desserts are created or discovered, none can ever quite compete with the old-fashioned goodness of shortcakes smothered with fruit. None, that is, except these newer, easier-to-prepare shortcakes that are made with giant-sized refrigerated biscuits and canned blueberry pie filling. These biscuits are sized just right because they're big enough to satisfy the hungriest. Dipped first in sugar, they bake to flaky perfection. Then the pie filling can be spooned right from the can to fill and top each fragrant hot puff. If you like, add a perky dollop of whipped cream. Serve shortcakes like these and diets will go out the door as the dessert enters!

Easy Blueberry Shortcakes

- 1 can refrigerated deluxe-size layered flaky biscuits
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 No. 2 can (2 cups) blueberry pie filling
- Heavy cream, whipped
- Oven: 400°

Yield: 5 shortcakes

Separate dough into 10 biscuits. Place one biscuit on top of another; firmly press together to form one large shortcake. Repeat with remaining biscuits to form 5 shortcakes. Roll in sugar. Place on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400° for 9 to 11 minutes or until golden brown. Split hot shortcakes and fill with blueberry pie filling. Top with more filling and, if desired, sweetened whipped cream.

EVERYBODY LOVES PEANUTS — AND PEANUT COOKIES

At parties, the hall park, the zoo—or wherever people gather for a good time—peanuts are in demand. For Americans of all ages are addicted to peanuts. But it's a good habit, one that nutritionists highly approve, because peanuts furnish valuable nutrients as well as energy. Many cooks fail to appreciate the versatility of peanuts as a recipe ingredient. The little nuts team well with a wide range of other foods, adding a provocative flavor and distinctive texture that have long been familiar to South American and African cooks.

Planters Dry Roasted Peanuts, with their unusual crispness and tangy taste, are irresistible whether eaten by the handful, or used in recipes. Here they lend their flavor and texture to a thin, crisp cookie that is delicately spiced with cinnamon.

To grate peanuts for Planters Cinnamon Wafers, use a blender, a crank style nut grater, or seal the nuts in a plastic bag and crush with a rolling pin.

- PLANTERS CINNAMON WAFERS
- 4 egg whites
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 2 cups grated Planters Dry Roasted Peanuts
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until very stiff and glossy. Fold in grated Planters Dry Roasted Peanuts, vanilla, salt and cinnamon. Drop heaping teaspoonsful 2 inches apart onto baking sheets covered with ungreased paper. Bake in a slow oven (325 F.) about 20 minutes, or until cookies are set and lightly browned. Immediately remove from baking sheets. Makes about 1 dozen cookies.

Diamond Has a Terrific Appetite

By GERALD SEGROVES
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Diamond, the Knoxville Zoo's portly pachyderm, is one of the biggest elephants in North America and he has an appetite to match.

City officials here are fed up with his eating habits, his motor-oil baths and his surly disposition. They are ready to ship him off — to anywhere.

But a move is under way to "Save old Diamond," who was a gift from a circus.

If it were up to the city's children, Diamond, who stands 10 feet tall and weighs almost four tons, would remain here at any cost. Some older heads share their view and are willing to foot the bill for Diamond's room and board.

The controversy began Feb. 21 when city officials heard it was costing $10,000 a year to feed and care for the elephant. Mayor Leonard Rogers said also that Diamond was dangerous.

"That elephant's mean because somebody's been messing with him," countered a third-grader. "And you know how elephants are — they never forget."

Several children offered suggestions to solve the problem.

"Why don't they paint his house with pictures of trees and stuff like in the jungle?" asked one youngster. "Then he would feel more at home and wouldn't try to get out."

The Knoxville Journal has contributed $1,000 toward the $35,000 goal of the "Save old Diamond" movement.

"The only thing he won't eat is lemons," said keeper Frank Huskey, after dumping a bale or two of hay, a crate or two of lettuce, yams, grapefruit and broccoli, along with some horse food, in front of Diamond.

Diamond needs a warm, soapy bath every three weeks and, during hot weather, needs to be splashed with cold water twice daily. Then, after his bath, Diamond gets an oil rubdown.

"That's when he is happiest — when thin motor oil is soaking his dry, inch-thick, wrinkled hide," said Huskey.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Why does "true blue" mean dependable or faithful?

A—"True blue" is said to go back to a superior quality blue dye manufactured in the Middle Ages in Coventry, England. Unlike other blue dyes, this one did not fade or run, so housewives began calling it the "true blue" dye.

Q—Which is the longest bone in the body?

A—The femur (thigh bone).

Hide Meat Salad in Buns

Have a great time at porch supper or picnic with luncheon meat salad sandwiches made in advance. These can be foil-wrapped for heating in oven or on grill just before serving time.

Meaty sandwiches provide a satisfying answer to the springtime supper problem.

Prepared in advance, these sandwiches can be kept refrigerated until ravenous appetites greet the best of the family. It takes only a quick time either in the oven or on the grill to heat these through.

Conveniently canned luncheon meat is finely chopped, explains home economist Reba Staggs, then combined with other favorite sandwich ingredients to make "hideaways." During the heating, the grated cheese melts and combines with mayonnaise and catchup to hold the mixture together for easy eating.

Supper is indeed an easy meal with these hot sandwiches.

Flavor in Meats

When the meat cut is divided into pieces or left in a large piece to be cooked by one of the moist heat methods, brown before adding liquid. Why? Browning, especially when seasoned flour is used, is a way to develop more palatable flavor as well as attractive color. Stews and pot roasts, as an example, are a richer color when they're browned first.

Another method used for preserving flavor is the use of low temperature for cooking no matter what the process. Meat will not dry as readily with moderate temperature cooking, as with high temperature.

You'll need only potato chips, raw relishes, milk and fruit.

Meat Salad Hideaways
1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat, finely chopped
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
3 tablespoons catchup
12 frankfurter buns

Combine meat, cheese, olives, onion, eggs, mayonnaise and catchup. Mix well. Split frankfurter buns almost through. Fill each bun with approximately 1/2 cup mixture. Wrap in foil and heat over coals or bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 10 minutes. 12 sandwiches.

Steam: Needed

Why is liquid added to a pot roast, for example? The heating of the liquid causes steam to be created. Steam is needed for softening the connective tissue in meat when a less-tender cut is being cooked.

Liquids which may be used include water, soup, tomato juice, vegetable liquids, consommé, bouillon, etc.

Where should the cooking be done? It may be done on top of the range or in the oven provided the utensil is covered tightly and the temperature kept low.

Radiation gives off three kinds of rays—alpha, beta and gamma.

Embellish Your Next Steak

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Our dinner host recently was a talented young restaurant director, Edward Zwaaf, European-born and trained. In his own home he prepared for us his steak and chives cream with mushrooms, a dish which brings gourmet's steadily to New York's Tavern-on-the-Green, which is in his charge.

STEAK AND CHIVES CREAM WITH MUSHROOMS

Buy a strip from prime tenderloin steak. It should be approximately three inches wide and perhaps six inches long — and definitely NOT pounded. Sprinkle generously with cracked peppercorns.

frozen chives and two teaspoons frozen shallots three minutes. Sauté meat three minutes on one side, turn and sauté other side about three minutes more for rare, delicious meat.

Remove steak to heated plate. Add more butter and stir in five or six sliced mushrooms. Sauté a few minutes, turning often. Add about four tablespoons dry white wine, stirring a few minutes and then slowly add, a little at a time, six tablespoons heavy cream. Cook quickly until cream thickens, mixes with the juices of meat and mushrooms and the winey flavor. Continue to cook until cream is a rich beige color and as thick as honey, coating each mushroom slice.

STEAK AND CHIVES is great with mushrooms.

Heat sweet butter until bubbly and keep heat high. In this, sauté one tablespoon at a time.

Turn into heated plate with the steak and serve immediately.

A Vote for Country Ham

Q—My grandaunt is always telling me that the old-fashioned "country-style" hams are much better eating than the ready-to-cook kind I've been using. Just what does she mean by "country-style"?

A—Although your grandaunt may be a bit set in her tastes, she may have a point. Gourmets will agree with her that the country-style hams do have particularly fine flavor.

In your aunt's youth, and long before that, hogs were butchered on the farm in the fall. The hams were hung in the smokehouse for several weeks, under extreme care, to make certain they were fully cured and smoke-flavored. Today, hams labeled as "country-style" are still processed in much this same way, by using a "dry" cure, slow-smoking and long-drying process. They have a real "ham" flavor, are firmer-textured, low in moisture, and always require cooking before eating. These country-style hams are frequently labeled with names such as Smithfield, Tennessee, Georgia, Kentucky, etc., to indicate the geographical area in which they are produced. If federally inspected, they must actually be produced in these areas to carry such names.

Don't Take Any Chances When You Use Your Ladder

BY MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sprucing up for spring gets an awful lot of homeowners up on ladders. This is one place where safety is no accident. Do not leave anything to chance when you use a ladder, either indoors or out.

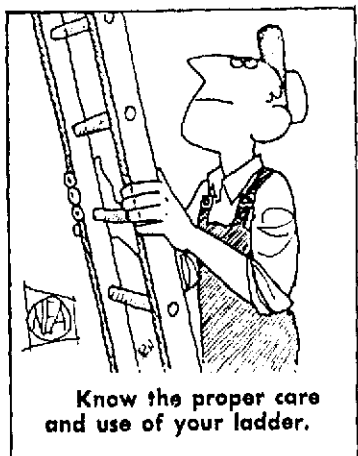

If your ladder has been stored away all winter, test it before using it. Lay it flat on the ground and walk on the rungs. If there's a weak one it's better to find it this way. Is the ladder old and shaky? Don't try to repair it. Break it up and burn it. Don't leave it around.

If you are buying a ladder, get a good one, one that is free of large knots. Aluminum and magnesium ladders involve less weight than wood for the same height and are easier to handle. More caukeep one hand on the ladder. Provide hooks for paint buckets so you can hang them when you get to the top. If it's windy, pick another day. Don't take too long a reach from a ladder. Get down and move it. If you must use both hands for a moment, hook your leg or elbow around a rung.

Don't carry tools loosely in your pocket or they may fall and hit someone below. Don't place your ladder in front of a door unless you have securely locked it.

Keep your ladder stored in a dry place. Treat the wood with linseed oil. Never paint a ladder or use one that is painted. Paint hides cracks and other defects.

tion is needed, however, when using a metal ladder around electric wires.

Do not get an extension ladder much over 30 feet unless you're an old hand at handling ladders.

You don't raise a ladder by just grabbing and lifting. Brace the lower end against the base of the wall, a curb or something else that is firm and sturdy. Then lift the top of the ladder (the part farthest from the wall) and raise it up a rung at a time. Walk forward, raising the ladder hand over hand. This will raise the ladder straight up. When it is all the way up and against the wall, move the base of the ladder away from the wall.

The rule for safe angles is to place the base of the ladder one-fourth its length from the wall. If it's a 20-foot ladder, the bottom should rest five feet away. At this angle your balance is right and you will not tip the ladder backwards. Don't increase the distance. This puts the ladder out almost horizontal and you have nothing to grasp unless you lie forward.

Safe Footing Needed
If the ground is soft, provide a solid footing, such as sandbags. On hard, slippery surfaces—drives or walks—tie the bottom rung to some fixed object. Some ladders have skid-proof feet. This is a must on metal ladders.

The top of the ladder should be resting against something firm, too. Don't place it against a screen or window.

Face the Ladder
Face the ladder when you climb. Go up one step at a time. Don't stand higher than the third rung from the top. Use both hands and always Present record, set in 1958, is 2,847 miles.

Schools Bid for Old Post Office Tax Deadline

Following Monday's editorial in which we suggested that the federal government ought to compensate the taxpayers for the loss of taxpaying property on the site of the new Federal Building and Post Office by selling the old Post Office Building to private interests. The Star has received the following letter:

Editor The Star: Hope School District has filed an application for the old post office building with the General Services Administration and Department of Health, Education and Welfare of Dallas, Texas.

We have a real need for this facility. The following is a list of educational services, which would be housed in the Federal Government surplus building, e.g., the old post office building in Hope.

1. Educational Resource and Material Center
2. Adult Education Facility
3. Educational Inservice Training Facility
4. Social Services Center
5. Guidance Counseling and Testing Center
6. Educational Exhibit and Display Center
7. School Health and Sanitation Center
8. Elementary and Secondary Textbook Depository
9. Professional Library and Research Material Center
10. Conference Facility for Educational Boards and Committees. Yours truly,

JAMES H. JONES
Superintendent of Schools
April 12, 1966
City

Anything that will help the public schools is worth considering, of course — but not without the advice and consent of the taxpayers. You can't float bonds and put up new school buildings without public approval, and it would be equally against the public interest to transfer federal debt into a local obligation without consulting the tax-paying public.

I don't know that this would require such a cumbersome thing as a special election — but the very least that could be done would be to hold a public meeting at which the taxpayers would be free to endorse or oppose such a property transfer. My point is, each expansion of tax-exempt property in the community thrusts a potentially heavier burden upon the remaining property that still pays taxes, and upon the unpropertied ones who possibly face higher sales taxes in the future — therefore it is wise and just to ask the people how they feel about the proposal in question.

The deadline for filing federal personal income taxes is tomorrow midnight, Friday, April 15 — and I have just been struck by the whimsical idea that if every American were compelled to fill out his tax return personally he'd be a wiser citizen and this would be a better nation.

But as it is, Americans like to think they are living in a push-button age, so they shove their income tax worries onto a hired consultant and grumble futilely over the size of the tax check.

Your editor is one of a vanishing tribe who completes his own return, and always has. It might be argued that some citizens are more knowledgeable than others in coping with figures, but it also is true that if the average taxpayer had formed the habit of battling his federal return personally from the beginning he would have gained the experience to take today's complicated form in stride.

And he'd be a better citizen if he had done so. The experience would enable him to measure the complex depths into which thoughtless voting has plunged our country — and upon a sharper citizenry rests the future of America.

Indonesia and Malaysia Talking

Brooks Hays Announces for Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Former Congressman Brooks Hays announced today as a Democratic candidate for governor. The 67-year-old Hays was in Congress 16 years before beaten in a 1958 bid for re-election.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Former U.S. Rep. Brooks Hays, 67, is expected to announce today that he will be a Democratic candidate for governor, his friends reported Wednesday night.

It was first publicly announced that Hays was considering the race early in March, when he said friends had been urging him to enter. Hays, associated director of the federal Community Relations Service, presidential adviser and a part-time lecturer in government at New Jersey's Rutgers University, said then that he would consider evidence showing that his duty lay in making the campaign.

He ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1928 and 1930, before starting his 16-year career as a congressman. He represented the old 5th Congressional District of Arkansas, which included Little Rock.

Dr. Dale Alford beat him for the congressional seat in 1958. Alford ran as a write-in candidate and defeated Hays, who had already won Democratic nomination, by about two per cent of the vote.

Hays took a moderate position during the Little Rock school desegregation crisis, and Alford was considered a segregation candidate.

Talbot Feild Is Seeking Re-election

Talbot Feild, Jr., today authorized the Star to announce his candidacy for the House of Representatives. In making his announcement he issued the following statement:

"It is a privilege and honor for me to represent the People of Hempstead County in the General Assembly of our State. Arkansas and Hempstead County are now moving forward and are on the threshold of sustained growth and progress. As never before your Legislature can assist and contribute much to the economy and well being of all citizens.

"If re-elected as your Representative I shall continue to represent all the People to the best of my ability.

"I earnestly and sincerely solicit the vote and support of all citizens."

4 Counties Get Poverty War Funds

Four counties in Southwest Arkansas will join the War on Poverty under terms of a joint $25,642 federal grant signed today by William H. Crook, Southwest regional director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The funds will be administered by the Southwest Arkansas Development Council, Inc., a non-profit community action agency with headquarters in Foreman, Ark. The four counties to be represented by the council are Lafayette, Hempstead, Little River, and Miller Counties.

The funds will enable the council to hire a professional staff to survey the root cause of poverty in the area, and to develop an overall plan to combat it. There are 71,588 people in the four counties.

Mills Dedicates SS Office

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., dedicated the Batesville branch office of the Social Security Administration here Wednesday.

Mills said in the seven counties that the office serves, 12,000 persons are receiving Social Security benefits totaling $7.5 million.

The counties served by the office are Baxter, Sharp, Stone, Izard, Fulton, Searcy and Independence.

Predicts Dip in the Price of Broilers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today that chicken broiler prices, which have been running considerably higher than normal in recent months, will ease off later in the year to levels possibly below a year ago.

Recent chicken prices have reflected short supplies of red meats, particularly pork, with consequent consumer use of large supplies of poultry.

But production of hogs is increasing and supplies of pork are expected to be much larger next fall. As a consequence, the department said, poultry prices will drop along with pork prices.

A poultry situation report said the current high demand for poultry and eggs is encouraging poultry men to expand production.

Egg production has been running below year earlier levels. But the department said it expects output to be back to year-earlier levels by the third quarter and significantly above in the fourth quarter.

The report said turkey producers are likely to raise at least 10 per cent more birds than the 194.7 million last year. This would be a record large crop.

Because of the tight supply of red meats, the department expects turkey prices to continue strong through midyear. It said, however, prices are likely to weaken during the second half of the year.

Election Is Promised to Buddhists

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
SAGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Thousands of jubilant Buddhist demonstrators marched peacefully through Saigon today in a victory celebration after the military regime decreed elections for a civilian government in three to five months.

A ranking Buddhist leader said the junta's formal pledge "satisfies our main demands."

The willingness of the Buddhist hierarchy to accept the election pledge may mean the survival of the U.S.-supported military government until the nationwide elections. On Sunday, the Buddhists had demanded the immediate resignation of the junta.

When the Buddhist leaders received word of the decree, they at first called off a planned antigovernment march into the city and decided instead to hold a "meeting of good will" on the grounds of the Buddhist Institute on the outskirts of Saigon.

But as thousands of their supporters flocked to the compound in a carnival atmosphere, the Buddhists decided to stage the march as a "victory celebration." The marchers initially were only to go two blocks, but then the Buddhist leaders amended themselves again and let the huge throng walk on.

After walking through some main streets, the crowd made its way back to the Buddhist Institute at dusk.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—President Abdel Salam Aref of Iraq, who survived repeated violent political upheavals the past eight years, has been killed in a plane crash, Baghdad Radio announced today.

The Iraqi Radio said Interior Minister Maj. Gen. Abdul Latif Daraji and Industry Minister Mustafa Abdullah also were killed in the crash near the Persian Gulf port of Basra. A sandstorm was blamed.

Premier Abdel Rahman Bazzaz will be acting president until the Council of Ministers and the National Defense Council elect Aref's successor within a week, the broadcast said.

The councils are composed mostly of ranking army officers. Aref's brother, Gen. Abdel Rahman Aref, chief of staff of the army and had been considered a possible successor to the presidency. The general is in Moscow as the head of a visiting military delegation.

Diplomatic observers in London said Aref's death seemed likely to set off furious political infighting, and perhaps worse, over the succession. Baghdad Radio said a curfew had been proclaimed from noon today until further notice. It asked the people "to be steadfast in the face of this national disaster."

Aref was 45. Since the military made him president in February 1963, he had maintained a precarious dominance over his country's bitterly feuding political and religious factions.

A Pan-Arab group wants Iraq to unite with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic while a rival nationalist faction is against giving poverty-stricken Egypt access to Iraq's huge oil revenue.

While Aref favored union with Egypt and once signed a military cooperation pact with Nasser, the Egyptian president in recent years has reacted cautiously toward such a move. The two agreed it should be carried out over a long period of time but little was done to achieve it.

Aref's regime also was plagued by a conflict between two Moslem sects, the Shias in the south and the Sunnis in the north, and by the four-year-old rebellion by Kurdish tribesmen in northern Iraq who want independence from Baghdad.

Trucks at Blocked Pass Blasted by U.S.

By THOMAS A. REEDY
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Several thousand U.S. Marines opened a new search operation today in the rice paddies overlooking the South China Sea, while Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs caught a dozen trucks near the entrance to North Viet Nam's landslide-clogged Mu Gia Pass.

The Leathernecks killed 14 Viet Cong, captured five and took 67 suspects in tow at the outset of a multibattalion search and destroy operation 23 miles south of Chu Lai. The area has been in Viet Cong hands for years.

Ten Marines stripped to the waist and moved with pistols and flashlights through a network of tunnels where they seized 15 Vietnamese suspected of being Viet Cong. Some pajama-clad fighters were seen fleeing the maze beneath the hamlet of An Hai a short time before.

The Air Force jets returned Wednesday to the strategic pass on the Laotian frontier, 230 miles south of Hanoi, where B52s dropped 1.4 million pounds of bombs on Tuesday in the first raid by the stratofortresses on North Viet Nam. Military sources in Washington said some of the big bombs were vices to explode days later, thereby discouraging Communist road clearing work.

The Thunderchiefs spotted 12 trucks on Route 15 at the entrance to the bottled-up pass. At least four were destroyed, a U.S. Air Force spokesman said. He also said aerial photographs confirmed that the pass was completely blocked by landslides.
